September 16, 1991

Dear Fellow MOA Member,

Convention time is upon us. Enclosed you will find a planned schedule of events, information sheet, and reservation form which should give you a good idea of what is planned. I really believe the program does an excellent job of covering the key issues facing the maintenance officer while also giving us time to see old friends and meet new ones. While we are still working many of the program details, I can promise you an interesting and informative time.

This year, we have a first for the MOA and it may help explain why we chose to have the convention here in Washington. While plans can change at a minute's notice, General McPeak has accepted our invitation to speak at the luncheon on Friday. His presence should provide tremendous incite as to where we are really headed. Likewise, Lieutenant General Viccellio will be the guest speaker at Saturday's banquet. As a long-time MOA member and active participant, his comments should provide the perfect wrap up to what promises to be a highly informative and interesting time.

I strongly encourage each of you to attend as this is a critical juncture in the evolution of our career field. We are developing a top-notch program, so show up and lend your voice.

As with any such event, we have to set reservation and cancellation deadlines as outlined in the enclosed literature. If for any reason you find out at the last minute that you will or won't be able to attend as planned, please give us a call and let us see what we can do. As you can imagine, it is necessary to garner a commitment (to include money) from those who are planning on attending. But we don't want anyone to lose a dime as a result of unavoidable last minute changes. Likewise, if you find out at the last minute that you can get transportation and you would like to attend, let us know so we can work something out.

I hope this package will answer all of your questions. If not, give us a call and we will do our level best to get you the information you need. Names and phone numbers of key personnel are enclosed. See you in November!!

Sincerely,

Donald J. Wetekam, Lt Col, USAF
President

MAINTENANCE OFFICER ASSOCIATION (MOA)

Dear MOA Member,

Welcome to the Sixth Annual Maintenance Officer Association Convention! I am delighted to have so many of you here this year and would like to extend a special welcome to those members who are attending their first MOA convention.

It has been an extremely busy year for MOA as well as the Air Force. The many issues we face, such as career progression and our role in the Objective Air Force, continue to grow and point to an even more important role for MOA in the years ahead. The new MOA administration will continue to rely on your strong support as they carry on the MOA tradition and represent your concerns.

We have scheduled a slate of speakers designed to present you with a picture of the Air Force of the future. We are very fortunate to host General Merrill A. McPeak, our Chief of Staff, during the Friday luncheon, and Lieutenant General Henry Viccellio, Jr., the former Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics and current Director of the Joint Staff as our Saturday night banquet speaker. Additionally, Lieutenant General Trevor A. Hammond, the Deputy Chief of Staff Logistics, and Brigadier General William M. Douglass, Director of Maintenance, will spend a good deal of their time listening to and discussing our concerns.

Nearly twenty private sector contractors will present their displays and brief us on the latest technology available. Four of our private sector partners have also provided brochures which detail their respective company's services. Please make a personal effort to meet with these individuals who represent some of the largest producers/suppliers of products used by the active military community. We could not undertake this event without their generous support. Make them feel welcome and take advantage of their expertise.

I hope you will enjoy touring the city sights as much as I have enjoyed being your president. I want to thank you for your outstanding support. It is gratifying to know that so many of you are in attendance — it means that you want to be involved in this great organization. It is my hope you have an enjoyable time in the area, and a long and lasting relationship with the men and women of MOA.

Sincerely

Donald J. Wetekam
Lieutenant Colonel, USAF
President
